We avail ourselves of this opportunity to sincerely thank our patrons for all past favors.

In about thirty days we shall inaugurate the store we are now remodeling and fitting out at the corner of Mesa avenue and Texas street, where we shall conduct a first class general jewelry store, in which we shall make diamond goods and high class jewelry our specialty, at the same time aiming to satisfy all customers by offering them the most artistic goods and the best values in all classes of articles kept by us, whether high or low priced.

A watch repairing department and a manufacturing jeweler's shop will be among the best cared for branches of our new business.

We shall want everybody to visit our new store. Our goods, their prices, and our personal attention, will do the rest.

THE BUBBLER.

FOR MAKING BUBBLES WITHOUT SOAP SUDS

Let's blow bubbles. What fun and no musing either, for we'll use the Bubbler which needs no soap or soap suds. Get a glass of boiled or distilled warm water, dip the Bubbler in, blow gently and beautiful bubbles will grow like magic.

NOTICE

When the Bubbler is dipped in water a film forms over the opening in center of the tablet; on blowing into the tube this film passes over the face of the tablet, picking up enough substance to make a large bubble. Children never have any trouble in making bubbles, but a man, after dipping Bubbler in water, will frequently give it a sharp jerk, which breaks the film and prevents the formation of a bubble. For best results use rain water, dip, blow gently in starting.

GAMES AND AMUSEMENTS

FLOATING BUBBLES—Give the Bubbler a light jerk to one side and thereby detach the bubble. Blow the bubbles over a heat register and you will be surprised how many of the big bubbles will keep afloat.

REPEATERS—Blow a small bubble, float it, then catch it again upon the end of the Bubbler. See how many times you can repeat this with the same bubble.

SURPRISE BUBBLES—A bubble may be pierced with a hat pin or cut with a knife without breaking it, if pin or knife is perfectly clean; but if either has the smallest particle of grease on it the bubbles will break. Cover pin or knife with the soapy substance before trying to pass through the bubble.

DOUBLE BUBBLES—Two children stand so that the Bubbler is but a few inches apart, then start to blow. The bubbles slowly swell out, touch, then unite into one large sphere. Blow carefully and steadily until a monster bubble results. A triangular bubble can be made by having three join in blowing.

THE BOXERS—A game for two, played by making the bubbles strike together. The end of the tube should be closed with the finger, for the bubble is elastic and grows smaller, driving out the air that was blown into it. The bubbles will glide and bound from each other as if made of rubber. The object of the game is to break the opponent's bubble or knock it off the Bubbler, while your own bubble remains intact.

LUNG TESTER—See who can blow the largest bubble, using but one breath.

SUPPORTED BUBBLES—Put several inverted glass tumblers side by side and put a bubble upon the bottom of each glass. To do this it is best to moisten the bottom of the tumbler with the soapy substance.

ROLLING BUBBLES—Let the bubble fall upon a woolen surface, either a cloth, felt or carpet. Bubbles last a long time on woolen, but break quickly when they come in contact with cotton. Drop the bubble in center of cloth, move cloth up and down and bubble will roll prettily.

SMOKE BUBBLES are very beautiful; the small ones look like pearls. These may be made by calling in the service of grandpa, if he smokes. The bubble should be well started before the smoke is blown in.

BOUNCING BUBBLES—Float the bubble and then by using a hat covered with flannel, a woolen mitten on the hand, or a felt hat, the bubble can be tossed again and again; or it may be rolled up and down on the sleeve of the coat.

TOBOGGAN BUBBLES—Place a cloth covered board in a slanting position and let bubbles roll down.

INSTITUTE FOR TEACHERS OPENS

Deming Has a School for the Schoolmaster—Deming News Notes.

Deming, N. M., June 1.—The Luna county teachers' institute has opened. Prof. Vaughn, of the Agricultural and Mechanical College, has charge of the work. The institute will hold its sessions in the high school building.

There is a great scarcity of well drilled men in the vicinity of Deming. Farmers who have been waiting for months to have their wells drilled are still unable to procure an outfit to do the work. The machine of Burley and Rhea was unloaded today. They have contracts ahead for several months.

Frank Nordhaus, who has been in the east purchasing goods for the new store of Nordhaus and Sons, has returned. The weather in Deming for the last four days has been unusually oppressive. The humidity in the air and the heat argue well for an early rainy season.

With the closing of the public schools, the exodus of families to the ranches has begun.

Mrs. Thurmond and Mrs. Stecker have gone to Silver City. The latter is attending the summer normal at that place.

SMELTER ORDERED FOR HERMOSA, N. M. MINES.

The Ocean Wave Mining company, in the Hermosa district, in the Black range is increasing its concentrating plant to 50 tons daily capacity. The El Cliff Mining company, under the superintendency of J. S. Lovern, has purchased a Partridge hot air blast smelter, and is working eight miners on good grade silver-lead ore.
